

STARK HOUSE PRESS

April Newsletter, volume 4, issue 2015
4

The last newsletter dealt with our Stark House Crime Club, and thanks for all the feedback. Some details were left out, and we appreciate the opportunity to clarify the terms to each and every one of you. Which is a polite way of saying we screwed up, but we hope we got it all straightened out for those of you who wrote to say you were interested.

So, we've covered the Crime Club, Black Gat Books (which premieres next month!), our latest reprints of W. R. Burnett and Frank Kane. Where does that leave us? Pretty well caught up with the new stuff. Maybe it's time to talk about independent bookstores. Yeah, the guys who persevere against all odds to bring you the latest in new and used books. They're still out there. In fact, we compiled a list of those stores who either specialize in mysteries or do a bang-up job stocking mysteries, just so you can find the one nearest you. Drop by, browse, buy a book or two or three.

We're sure we missed a few favorites, so if you have a local bookstore you want to recommend (particularly if they stock a lot of mysteries), feel free to let us know. But until next month when we'll talk about more new Stark House books, here's our list in an easy-to-print layout...

And check out our featured book of the month, Rick Ollerman's "Turnabout" and "Shallow Secrets." Featured books are always 25% off!
